FOWLER CHOOSES ROYAL FAMILY TENTATIVE CAST

First Night of the Season
Will Be Presented October
27 at Guignol Theatre

MARION GALLOWAY TO
HEAD LIST OF PLAYERS

Ingenious Production Is Work of George S. Kaufman
and Edna Ferber

At a general rehearsal Wednesday night, Frank C. Fowler, director of dramatic careers at the university, announced a tentative cast for The Royal Family, the first of a series of five plays given each year by the Guignol Players. The Royal Family, a comedy in three acts, marks the advent of the most pretentious season ever attempted by the theater and is prophetic of the biggest year in the history of the local playhouse.

The "first night" of the present season will be on October 27, when the initial performance will be presented. Much impatience to get under way was exhibited at the opening rehearsal both by the members of the cast as well as by Director Fowler, due to the fact that this particular type of play has never been produced here before.

The Royal Family is the culmination of the ingenuity of two writers, George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It was first produced in 1927 by Jed Harris at the Selwyn Theatre in New York where it had a long and decidedly successful run.

The scenes of the play are laid in the drawing room of the fashionable Cavendish home in the "East Fifties"; the time is modern and the family represents a prototype of the famous Barrymores. The various "situations" which arise among the relations are at the same time both amusing and melodramatic.

Part-time Work Helps Students To Pay Expenses

"Approximately seventy-five men students at the university must have employment in order to remain in school this semester," said Bart Peak, Y. M. C. A. secretary, the first of the week.

This grave situation of unemployment among the university men students follows quite naturally the larger unemployment, drouth, and business depression throughout the state. The drouth has stopped much of the financial aid generally received from the homes of these students. Conditions for student part-time employment are worse this year than at any time during the past ten years.

The only relief for this unprecedented student unemployment is close cooperation between the various employers of student help and agents for student employment on the university campus, such as the University Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Bart Peak.

It is estimated that 62 per cent of the students at Kentucky are helping to pay expenses by part-time work. The University of Kentucky alone employs approximately 110 students, assistant laboratory instructors, library attendants, cafeteria help, dormitory helpers, etc. Most students who seek to work their way through the university are satisfied with from $5 to $8 a week. They want employment which will defray only part of their expenses, such as table-waiting for meals, furnace-tending for room, etc.

"The type of ambitious student who seeks to attend the university and make his own way financially while doing so is generally the highest type of student, and should not be lost from the University of Kentucky if there is any way to prevent it," Mr. Peak concluded.

Registration Totals 3,114 as Day Closes

All Previous Records Broken
as Students Complete
Matriculation

At the close of Wednesday's one-hour registration period a total of 3,114 students had matriculated in the various colleges at the university for the first semester. This enrollment has broken all previous records and has passed last fall's high mark of 2,988 for the first semester. According to university officials a grand total of 3,200 is expected before the final registration period closes Monday. Registration periods for late students are being held daily in the Administration building from 3 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Photographers Will Begin
Monday to Take Kentuckian Pictures; Seniors to Report Sept. 29-Oct. 1

Names of all candidates for the 1931 beauty sections of the Kentuckian must be turned in at the Kentuckian office by noon October 6, according to an announcement made by Frank Stone who has charge of the department. Each petition for nomination must be signed by 50 male under-graduate students.

The beauty pictures which are to appear in this year's Annual will be of much higher quality and more costly than those of previous years. Because of the added expense the feature editor will be forced to limit each sorority to three candidates whose pictures will be taken at the expense of the Kentuckian. Any sorority may submit additional pictures at their own expense. There will be no limit placed on non-sorority girls.

The first eight pictures selected by one of the country's leading beauty critics will be used in the beauty section of the year book. Rex Allison, editor of this year's Kentuckian, has arranged for the annual photographer to be in the men's gymnasium, September 29, 30, and October 1. Senior students are required to report at that time only. Fraternity pictures will be taken from Thursday till Saturday of that week.

Senior girls are requested not to wear sport or evening clothes, afternoon dresses being in preference to either.

60 Candidates Try For Men's Glee Club

President Frank L. McVey
Promises Trip to Members During Easter

Approximately sixty candidates answered the call of Professor Carl A. Lampert, for the initial tryouts and practice session of the University Men's Glee Club at the Music building Monday night.

Prof. Lampert announced that the large group would not undergo any operations with the axe as long as each man showed a willingness to attend practice sessions and cooperate in every way to make this year's club a success.

A trip, which will probably come during the Easter holidays, has been promised the candidates by President Frank L. McVey. Several other engagements will be booked for nearby towns.

Professor Lampert was assisted in the tryouts by Prof. Roy Jarman. All the candidates were given a chance to try before the evening was over. Hal Bencomo, spanish student, sang La Paloma in his native language.

Only nine of last year's club were present at the meeting. These are: Hays Callahan and Henry Baker, first tenors; Gayle Tudor and Carlisle Scheuermeyer, second tenors; David Welsh, James McRoberts and Malcolm Barnes, baritone; and Hugh Adeock and Kenneth Keys, second bass.

Federal Officers Will Be at Games

"Ticket Scalping" for Grid
Tilts to Be Under Governmental Control

"Ticket scalping" at the university will be under the supervision of the federal government during the forthcoming football season, according to an announcement yesterday by S. A. "Daddy" Boles, athletic director. There has been no great evidence of this custom so far this fall, as shown by the ticket sales for the more important games on the gridiron schedule, he said. Mr. Boles further said that the athletic department of the university will take no steps to prevent the brokerage of athletic tickets, but that federal agents will be present at the games for the apprehension of persons guilty of "scalping". He also pointed out that students and others must observe the law in their handling of ticket books and other tickets they may purchase, and that they cannot be bought and resold for a profit.

A. VANDENBOSCH RETURNS TO U K

Political Science Professor
Takes Up Work Again After Year Spent Abroad;

Addresses Local Clubs

Dr. A. Vandembosch, professor of political science, who has been abroad on a year's leave of absence, has returned to his work in the political science department of the university. He has recently addressed the local Rotarians on "The United States' Colonial Policy As Compared With That of Britain and the Netherlands," and the Pyramid club on "The Attitude Abroad Toward the United States and Americans." It is not yet definitely decided whether he will speak before other groups.

While Professor Vandembosch was abroad he studied colonial government in British India, the Dutch East Indies, and the Philippines. A considerable amount of his time was spent at the University of the Philippines Islands, a university with an enrollment of 7,000 students. He spoke at that university convocation on the subject of "Recent Constitutional Developments in the Dutch East Indies." There he found everyone, from the youngest freshman to the president, eager for independence. "In fact," he notes, "this feeling is everywhere predominant, except among the business men, only ten per cent of whom are natives."

French Club Will Hold First Meet Early in October

Miss Marguerite Horsfield, faculty advisor of the French Club, has announced that Le Cercle Franciscain will hold its first meeting early in October. At this meeting a president is to be elected and plans formulated for the year's work.

Le Cercle Franciscain is open to students, above the elementary French courses. Miss Horsfield urges that all French majors take active part in the club. At the first meeting, Miss Nancy Duke Lewis who is the present secretary will have charge.

LIQUOR MAGAZINE ARRIVES

Moonshiner, Humor Publication, Makes First Appearance on Campus

By VIRGINIA DOUGHERTY
Despite Thursday's unexpected though welcome rain, the Moonshiner made its first public appearance on the university campus and in the city. A new venture in journalistic estate in Lexington, the new magazine is a humorous monthly written and edited by students and graduates of the university, and, although it is not published as a campus publication, is typical of Kentucky college life and thought.

Richard Brewer, editor, is a graduate of the university, a member of Theta Psi, social fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary professional, journalism and advertising fraternities, respectively. His home is in Spokane, Wash. Besides the University of Kentucky, he has attended Rutgers University and the University of Texas, where he was considered an outstanding journalist and held the position of issue editor of the school paper. Last year at the university he was awarded the Sigma Delta Chi Scholarship Key for 1930 in recognition of journalistic ability and scholastic attainment.

McVEY TO SPEAK TO STUDENTS AT FIRST ASSEMBLY

University President to Talk on Matters Concerning
Student Body

EVERYONE REQUESTED TO ATTEND MEETINGS

Leaders in Campus Activities
Will Speak in Behalf of Organizations

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the university, will conduct the initial convocation of the school year this morning at 10 o'clock in Memorial hall. This first convocation, referred to as "Between Us Day," has as its purpose the formal presentation of the deans of the colleges, officers of various campus organizations, and other men and women of prominence in affairs of the university.

President McVey's address will concern matters of vital interest to the student body. It has been the policy of the university organization during the past several years to set aside one convocation for the purpose of discussing with the student body the problems facing the students both as a group and as individuals. With the growth of the enrollment this year Dr. McVey has felt that this convocation should come earlier in the school year than formerly.

Officers of the University Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and of the Alumni Association, will be asked to speak in behalf of their respective organizations. Editors of the Kentuckian, University yearbook, and of The Kernel will also be present on the platform during the convocation. Heads of the Suiky Circle and the W. S. G. A. will represent these organizations at the meeting. Deans of the various colleges of the university will be introduced to the student body, and C. R. Melcher, dean of men, will talk concerning the problems and duties of their respective positions.

President McVey has urged that every student of the university attend today's convocation because of the various problems which must be brought before the faculty and student body. Attendance at these programs is not compulsory, but Dr. McVey has expressed his belief that much of inestimable value to the student is lost through non-attendance of these university convocations.

Water Conservation

(An Editorial)

Last April there was a heavy rain in Lexington and in adjacent sections of the Blue Grass. Since that time citizens have scanned the skies in vain for signs of rainfall in quantities sufficient to insure continuation of the city's water supply. The result is that today this section of Kentucky is faced with the most serious shortage of water known to its history.

The shortage, already acute, was made even more so a few days ago when approximately three thousand students and more than two hundred faculty members descended upon the city for the beginning of the school year at the University of Kentucky. These figures represent about twenty per cent of the total population of Lexington. They drive home the realization that, as a part of the community, the university must join hands with the city in the crisis at hand.

At the present writing, much of the water used on the campus is being boiled to safeguard health. In the women's dormitories, all of the fountains have been closed, and, unless rigid conservation is practiced by all, there will be no available water for student use on the campus.

This is not a time for selfish usage, nor for the belief that any person in particular can waste water in the hope that all others are practicing conservation. But it is the time to realize that conservation is a necessity—that it is the only means to insure good health and a supply of water until lines are laid to the river. Conservation has become a necessity, a civic and personal duty. It has become an individual obligation to be assumed seriously. If it is not so taken, everyone is going to suffer in this, Lexington's dangerously acute water shortage.

"Choir Invisible" Sketches Are Lent To U. K. Professor

Orson Lowell, the New York artist who made the pen and ink sketches for the first illustrated edition of "The Choir Invisible", has lent to Professor Grant C. Knight of the English department, twenty of the original drawings for that novel. The drawings range in size from a small end-piece to a full page. Professor Knight, who is preparing a biography of James Lane Allen, came across them in his research pertaining to this subject.

ENGINEERS HOLD FIRST ASSEMBLY

The Engineering college of the university held its first Engineering assembly Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in Memorial hall with J. Irvine Lyle as guest speaker. His subject was "Some Engineering Reminiscences and Prospects".

The engineering assemblies are held weekly during the year for the purpose of bringing to engineering students in contact with prominent men of the literary, industrial, commercial and engineering fields. J. Irvine Lyle, the guest speaker, is well known at the University of Kentucky. He is a graduate of the class of '96 and was very prominent in campus activities during his matriculation here. Mr. Lyle has contributed much of his time, financial assistance, and advice to the University and to his fraternity, Sigma Chi. Mr. Lyle was also one of the founders of the University of Kentucky Alumni club of New York City.

The Carrier Engineering Corporation, of which Mr. Lyle is executive vice president, is the outstanding firm in America doing air conditioning. The firm has employed many university graduates in engineering. The members of the 1930 class who were placed with the Carrier Engineering Corporation include J. C. Benson, J. N. Gillham, B. F. Van Meter and L. A. Walton.

Miss Hoover expressed a desire to devise a menu that would be attractive to the many students who pay high prices for less carefully prepared and balanced meals elsewhere in town. The meals average 84 cents a day, and tickets may be purchased at $5.00 for eighteen consecutive meals. Also there are $3.50 meal tickets available for breakfast and dinner for six days.

The branch of the cafeteria at the Teachers' Training building prepares for an average of 200 students daily. The management will be under the direction of Miss Anna F. Bland, graduate student of the university. Miss Hoover plans to use the new cafeteria as a laboratory in institutional economics. At present special plate lunches are served for children at the training college.

The daily menu at the University Commons is as follows:
Breakfast: fruit, cereal or eggs, bread, and choice of beverages.
Lunch: prepared plate, vegetable salad, bread, milk, and a dessert.
Dinner: meat, two vegetables, salad, bread, and dessert.

Thomas Clifford Amyx, sophomore, took the lead of Class A of the Schachspieler Gesellschaft, and Joseph Chaden Burk, junior, the lead of Class B, at the first meeting of the university of Kentucky chess club held at the residence of James S. Porter, Jr., 676 Hendley avenue, last week.

Amyx leads the league with four wins and no losses, stopping the meteoric rise of Richard Malcolm Weaver, a junior, when each had won two and lost none, in the crucial game of the day.

Girls' Glee Club Elects Officials

Tryouts Will Be Conducted
by Professor Lampert
Next Week

The Girls' Glee Club of the university at their weekly meeting held Thursday afternoon elected the following officers: Beuna Mathis, president; Imogene Young, vice-president; Roberta Huette, secretary, and Mary Cooper Carter, treasurer. The club is under the direction of Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the music department.

Several operettas and novelty musical compositions are being considered for presentation by the Club in the early spring. Any woman student of the university who has ability and interest is eligible for membership in the club. Tryouts in groups and for individuals, will be conducted by Professor Lampert in the Music building on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons of next week.

During the year programs are presented at convocations and at vespers. Last year several programs were also given. Each spring the club presents a production. This production is usually given at some nearby college or university after being presented at home.

GRADE RELEASES SHOW STANDING OF U K CO-EDS

Independent Women Students
Make Better Grades
Than Sororities

ALPHA DELTA THETA
GETS 1.9 STANDING

Two Sorority Girls Achieve
Scholastic Rating That Is Perfect

Statistics released from the office of the dean of women show that independent women students at the University of Kentucky made a better standing than did fraternity women during the second semester of 1929-30. Alpha Delta Theta with an average standing of 1.903 made the highest standing of all sororities on the campus. Independent women students made a standing of 1.699 as compared with 1.576 made by sorority girls. The average standing of the 1,007 co-eds was 1.654.

Mortar Board with an average standing of 2.451 made the highest standing of women's honorary fraternities, while a standing of 1.84 made by Beta Sigma Omicron proved to be the highest average standing made by social fraternities for women inclusive of pledges.

If statistics do not lie, graduate women students are better students than regular students. The average standing of graduate students was 2.24, while the regular students made the following average standings: Seniors—women, 1.89; juniors, 1.66; sophomores, 1.58; and freshmen, 1.44.

Boarding house gossip must have some effect upon the woman student's ability to concentrate, for the report shows the average standing of all co-eds living in boarding houses to be 1.42, which is lower than that made by girls living in fraternity houses, residence halls, and those living with relatives. Of this group, girls living in fraternity houses had the highest standing, which was 1.569.

Women students living in Boyd Hall made a standing of 1.896; Patterson Hall, 1.530, and Smith Hall, 1.681. There was a very close margin between the standings made by the two highest sororities, Alpha Delta Theta made a standing of 1.903 as compared with Kappa Delta's standing of 1.902.

The only two sorority girls to make a perfect standing of 3.0, were Misses Louisa Bickel, Kappa Delta, and Jane Clay Kenney, Kappa Gamma. Both girls are seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences. Other sorority girls making a standing above 2.5 are: Sarah Seitz, 2.8; Norma Lambert, 2.8; and Elizabeth Eaton, 2.6.

The report of the scholastic standing of men students during the second semester 1929-30 will not be released before two weeks, according to Dean Melcher. The compilation of the men students' grades is now being prepared from data from the registrar's office.

Cafeteria Tries Dietetic System Of 'Fixed Meals'

With a daily average of 550 students taking advantage of the newly introduced "fixed meal" system at the University Commons, it hardly need be said that Miss Maye Hoover, supervisor of the Commons, has "hit the spot". The new meal program, which is arranged on a dietetic basis, is proving beneficial from both the health and economic viewpoint.

Miss Hoover expressed a desire to devise a menu that would be attractive to the many students who pay high prices for less carefully prepared and balanced meals elsewhere in town. The meals average 84 cents a day, and tickets may be purchased at $5.00 for eighteen consecutive meals. Also there are $3.50 meal tickets available for breakfast and dinner for six days.

Tuesday afternoon, a bridge-tea was given at the home of Miss Kitty Drury on Stone Avenue. Wednesday afternoon a cabaret tea dance in the red room of the Lafayette hotel from 3-6; Monday afternoon, a picture show party followed by an afternoon party at Chimney Corner.

Friday afternoon a charming colonial tea was given at the chapter house on east Maxwell street, by the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, welcoming the new girls of the university.

The guests were greeted at the door by an old-fashioned Negro servant garbed in a frock coat. Mrs. J. W. Smith, house mother, and Miss Margaret Cundiff, chapter president, were in the receiving line.

The sorority colors, red, buff, and green, were effectively used in decorations at the luncheon Saturday at Beaumont Inn given in honor of the new girls. The hostesses and the guests later visited Old Fort Harrod in the afternoon, motoring back to Lexington early in the afternoon.

A three-piece orchestra from the university furnished the music for a cabaret party the sorority gave at its chapter house Monday afternoon from 3-6 o'clock. Tuesday afternoon a progressive dinner was given by the Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae.

Beta Sigma Omicron sorority entertained their rushers with an informal party at the chapter house Thursday; a formal tea Friday, and a bridge tea Saturday at the Henry Clay tea room.

I heard a song at break of day
Sung from the autumn trees,
A song so mystical and calm,
So free of certainties,
No man, I think, could listen long

Yet this was but a simple bird,
Alone, among dead leaves.

SAYING IT WITH STUDENTS

A cascade of 3,100 students showered upon the university campus this semester. Back of such an encouragingly increasing student body necessarily lurk telling reasons why 3,100 homes, all with reasoning, sincere parents, willingly consent to this mountain avalanche upon the university, knowing well that unless this institution has established an unblemished reputation for the upright morality and scholastic excellence of its students, it would be fraught with veiled perils and be agent of nothing that is good.

An enrollment of 3,100 students implies that throughout Kentucky, and throughout 30 or more other states, and several foreign countries, implicit faith and trust in the university lies dominantly to the fore in the minds of the people.

All members of the faculty have been carefully selected, many of them nationally known educators, each a specialist in his field, directed by the helm of President McVey, himself as mighty an organizer, as great a master of foresight, as brilliant a scholar as any university president ever in the state of Kentucky. That is one reason.

Another factor involved in the progress of the university obviously is the well-merited fame of Dean Anderson's College of Engineering that rebounds here from the entire country, particularly the North and East.

Still another reason is the attraction of the contemplated building and expansion program of the university. The early realization of the finest, largest library in the south also has been no drawback to enlargement.

Numerically, not relatively, follow other causes: successful athletic teams, scholastic recognition by the largest of northern and eastern universities, healthful climate, congenial students, facilities for individual athletics, modern dormitories, best band in Dixie.

That, in miniature, composes the winning elements of the university that annually attract an increasing number of students. Considering the current business depression and consequent impaired financial condition of the country, the unrelenting growth of the university borders the phenomenal.

Nothing more rich in praise could be uttered of the university this year than, "Three thousand students."

START SOMETHING

Come on everybody, let's stand up, take some real deep breaths, stretch out summer's lazy limbs and do something. Let's not let laziness sneak up and steal our first enthusiasm when there is no point in letting it ever dim.

Registration's grim formalities are over and regular classes are no longer a novelty; in other words, the novelty of entering school is over. This seems to be giving an excuse to let both personal and college spirit lag. It is the duty of every student in the university to make this spirit increase with the increasing days in college instead of allowing it to dwindle as the first glow of the novelty of school begins to fade. The life of the university lies in the spirit of those attending it. Educators say that the contacts made through it are of as much value as the actual college curricula.

Summer is over, shake the yawns, be up on your toes, "get going," start doing something. You say what? Even the laziest person doesn't have to look far. The university offers limitless resources and asks only a little cooperation in return. Do you like to talk? Try debating or even dramatics. If you sing, go out for the glee club; if you play, why the "Best Band in Dixie" marches under the blue and white. For the big strong he-men, athletics are always open. For the timid co-ed, gold-digging must have a side suit and there is really nothing like getting in some active campus club and trying self expression. A little relaxation will help the best of lines.

Think how the folks back home will feel when they realize that college is not developing the traditional "jelly fish" that novelists give so much credit for, but that it is developing real live-wire men and women. Always self satisfaction is a goal of youth and what could be more self satisfying than to know that you are someone and not just a blank "Joe College" tired out and bored after the first two weeks of school.

Everyone attending the university should "go" for the university, like the ed gces for the co-ed, like the football team goes for the line, and the university will come to meet you. Let's make 1930 the biggest activity year and the most spirited year in the existence of the university.

Come everyone, poke out those hollow chests, oil up those stiff joints, put on the war paint, and let's do things—big things for Kentucky. It's a marvelous feeling, and that is no foolin'.

VESPERS FOR YOU

The Kernel welcomes with much pleasure and anticipation the continuation of the Sunday afternoon vespers during the coming school year. To those who availed themselves of the opportunity of attending these highly enjoyable programs last year it will be unnecessary to attempt to extol their worth. To the incoming new students and to those old students who for one reason or another were not present at any of the vespers services last year the Kernel wishes especially to urge attendance at as many of these programs as possible during the year. When President McVey inaugurated the Sunday vespers at Memorial hall last year it was with considerable trepidation, for no effort along this line had been attempted at the university for many years. Under his sponsorship, however, vespers soon became a vital part in the lives of many of the student body. Musical programs at the hands of some of the great artists were included during the services of the year. Prominent men were speakers from time to time, while the university organizations did their part in making the program a success.

In the light of the past The Kernel can predict only a most successful future for the Sunday afternoon services and it is with genuine sincerity that it again urges every member of the student body to avail themselves of the opportunity offered through such a medium.

RESERVES NEEDED

More players are needed for the Wildcat reserve football team this year. Members of the coaching staff have issued a call for men who wish to take part in the sport to report at the men's gymnasium at their earliest convenience.

That the coaches at the university should be forced to appeal to students to play football is a black mark, not on the coaches, but on those husky giants seen strolling the campus greens without an idea except that of gazing into the starry eyes of some particular appealing bit of pseudo feminine charm. The man who is physically unable to stand the rigors of the game is, of course, not expected to answer the call. But the fact remains that there are many men at the university who should be out on the field doing their bit to give Kentucky greater prestige in athletics.

It is apparent that many fellows do not relish the idea of playing on the university reserve team; but the old adage about the little acorns and the mighty oaks should be remembered. Likewise, great football teams. It should be remembered that the men who compose the first eleven this fall will not be members of the team next year. Then the reserves will have their day in stardom, for by that time they will have become able players. Since it is an axiom of note that no football team is stronger than its reserves, it behooves students to take it upon themselves to see that, if the team is a weak one, it will not be the fault of the reserve squad.

AN EXPERIMENT IN GROWTH

A number of years ago, the professors of the department of journalism and the students in that department, conceived the idea of The Kernel, the student newspaper, as a practical proposition. Their plan was to install and equip a plant, adequate for the needs of their publication.

Further, this plant was to be built and enlarged with the proceeds from The Kernel. Vision, careful planning, and faith in the future of this project has aided in producing The Kernel plant of today.

Modern in every respect, the equipment of the pressroom of the university newspaper is equal to that of any other school of a corresponding size. In many respects this establishment far exceeds the majority of like plants. The investment of $25,000 which has been made on The Kernel plant, is all paid except for $8,000.

The Kernel has proved to be a self-supporting institution on the campus. It seeks to expand to fit the needs of the student body. The Kernel press has as its purpose the maintenance of student rights. With the cooperation of the officials and student body of the university, The Kernel hopes to continue successfully this experiment in growth and development.

NEW UNIFORMS

Students enrolled in basic R. O. T. C. courses this year appear for instruction attired in a uniform far different from that which has been worn by aspiring young militarists at the university in the past. The new soldier suits are made of lighter material and are adorned with coat style lapels instead of the former high collars. Caps are of the over-seas type. The changes have been made in order that the cadet may be more comfortable, or rather less uncomfortable, during the fifty-minute drill periods.

In addition to satisfying the physical needs of the undergraduate, authorities have not overlooked the fact that "Men fight wars and love beauty". This knowledge has been applied so that now youth's aesthetic taste need not be dwarfed by preparation for the more carnal phases of life. Beauty has been supplied by the addition of color to the ensemble.

Although they are very beautiful, the lapels of king's blue remind one of the minstrel costumes one used to see when the circus came to town. The likeness is so strong that when the row of lapels form on the drill ground it would not surprise us greatly if instead of the usual "Forward, March", the commanding officer began in a soft tenor, "Some folks say a nigger won't steal" and was joined by a hundred lusty voices in "But I found one in my cornfield".

CAN YOU WRITE?

By the Editor: There is nothing quite so deflating as being a writer without a reader. At least, one gets that impression after faithfully battering an obsolete typewriter for the purpose of inviting everyone to write letters of opinion to The Kernel, only to have the entire campus withdraw into its shell and remain discreetly silent.

It is possible, but of course not probable, that the entire student body at the university is incapable of writing, or that it is completely devoid of ideas. Anyway, the burden now shifts to the student, for we are going to presume incapacity until affirmative evidence is introduced to the contrary.

It is positively amazing that a person should accuse the student newspaper here of not printing reliable information concerning some events on the campus. A letter from Hiram, Ohio, charges it. We wonder if he actually did take the opportunity to read the paper, or whether he referred to some event such as a particular student council activity, the publication of which would have been a travesty upon good taste. Editorial policy is predicted, on this paper at least, on maintaining student rights. We may fall at times, but we try. Anyway the letter follows. Read it and agree with us.

Editor, Kentucky Kernel: Because I have found during my last two years at Kentucky that "reliable information" concerning some events on the campus was not printed in The Kernel and that news concerning like events was entirely excluded because of the editorial policy of the staff, I shall not subscribe this year.

BAND MEMBERS PLAY AT FAIR

University Officials Attend Annual Meeting of Robinson Harvest Festival at Substation

15 ACCOMPANY SULZER

President McVey, Dean Cooper, seven members from the faculty of the College of Agriculture, and a group of selected musicians, under the direction of Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, attended the annual Robinson Harvest Festival, yesterday and today, held at the Experiment Substation, located at Quicksand, three miles east of Jackson, Kentucky.

Reports from the substation indicate that the exhibits will be unusually good this year in spite of the drouth, as many excellent crops were produced in the valleys of eastern Kentucky. A special fruit exhibit is being sponsored by the State Horticultural Society. The program also includes a complete 4-H Club show, with premiums for cooking, canning, corn, cattle and clothing. Many of the exhibits will be judged by instructors from the College of Agriculture. These faculty members are: Deans Cooper and Horlacher, instructors Lewis, Logan, Sellards, Weldon, Magill, and Monroe.

The event at Quicksand is in the nature of a festival as well as an agricultural fair. The exhibits include antiques, relics, ancient books, home-made furniture, baskets, tool handles, rugs, coverlets, and also displays of handwork, wood work, and weaving, from the mountain schools. Public addresses, instrumental and vocal music, and contests in hog calling, cow calling, competition between saddle mules, and between rule teams are all included in the festival program.

The gift of 15,000 acres of land by E. O. Robinson, Fort Thomas, Ky., and F. W. Mowbray, Cincinnati, Ohio, to the University of Kentucky, has made possible the experiment substation and also the annual fair and festival.

A pessimist is one who makes difficulties of his opportunities and an optimist is one who makes opportunities of his difficulties. Remember that and you will get along.—Vice Admiral Mansell, R. N.

MUSICIANS HAVE ACTIVE CHAPTER

Phi Mu Alpha, Musical Fraternity, Assists Music Department in Many of Its Activities

HAS PROMINENT ALUMNI

Phi Mu Alpha, social and professional music fraternity, will hold its initial meeting of the year at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the music building, according to announcement made Thursday by Hugh Adcock, president. All members must be present at the meeting, as several important matters will be brought before the fraternity, and plans for the coming year will be outlined.

Phi Mu Alpha is planning one of the biggest years in its history, according to Mr. Adcock.

Every year the fraternity assists the music department with the various phases of musical activity and in the past has contributed largely to practically every musical entertainment that has been given on the campus. The annual High School Music Festival Week is held under the auspices of the music department and Phi Mu Alpha.

In the past the fraternity has sponsored several oratorios which have been outstanding successes. "The Creation," "The Messiah," and "Elijah," are among the classics which have been given at the university. The operetta "Rosamund" also was presented one year. Either a musical comedy or an opera will be presented by the fraternity at some time during the coming year.

The artists who appear at the Woodland auditorium under the auspices of Miss Anna Chandler Goff, of the Lexington College of Music, always are entertained by Phi Mu Alpha.

In order to become a member of the organization, a student must have become outstanding in at least two departments of musical activity at the university. The fraternity has many members of the university orchestra, the glee club, and the band. Members of dance orchestras who belong to the fraternity here have played on three continents and have become widely known for their musical ability. The entire personnel of the university extension radio station are members of the fraternity. Every singer in the university quartette is a member of the organization.

The Alpha Gamma chapter at the University of Kentucky was founded in 1902 for the purpose of promoting musical activity on the campus and bringing musicians into closer relationship with each other. Since its organization it has had continuous growth, until now it occupies a most conspicuous position among the honorary fraternities on the campus.

John Phillip Sousa, the most outstanding military band director of the present day, is one of the oldest members of the organization and has been one of the most active members of the fraternity in the country. Fritz Kreisler, internationally known solo violinist, also is a prominent alumnus member of the organization.

Among the prominent alumni members of the fraternity here are Prof. Dudley South, head of the astronomy department at the university and well known violinist and pianist; Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the university department of music; E. G. Sulzer, director of the university band and head of the publicity bureau; Roy Jarman, director of the Central Christian church choir; Sidney Griffith, president of the local musicians' union, and Charles Dickerson, managing editor of the Lexington Leader, and a member of the university philharmonic orchestra.

In addition to participating in the musical affairs of the university, the fraternity entertains with several delightful social events throughout the school year. A dinner-dance, a smoker, and stag banquet were among the entertainments given by the organization last year.

Honorary members are Elmer Sulzer, Charles Dickerson, Roy Jarman, Sidney Griffith, U. O. Rowbotham, and Lewis Robinson.

It costs the City of New York $600,000 a day to operate its public school system, and the figure is expected to reach a million dollars daily in the near future.

Seventy percent of the English-speaking people of the world live on the North American continent, and 60 percent of them in the United States.

Every person in the United States is on the average $3.32 poorer than he was a year ago.

At the outset, Lexington's theatrical attractions for next week seem to be replete in entertaining quality. However, it is often difficult to prophesy as was the case this week for the picture least considered, "Love in the Rough," turned out to be the best bet of the three in amusing the fans. "Song O' My Heart" was too slow and "The Spoilers" held nothing except the stirring fight between Gary Cooper and William Boyd. The John McCormack opus must be granted laudation on its beautiful photography and tender direction, but as cinematic entertainment, it failed to impress.

GREENIES WILL MEET WESLEYAN FROSH

SQUAD OF FORTY WILL MAKE TRIP

Wesleyanites Unknown Quantity in First Test for Each Team; Large Crowd Will Journey to Winchester

By Edgar Turley
Saturday morning is the time appointed for the departure of the Kentucky kitten football team on their first big eastern invasion. The big green team will leave by bus for Winchester where they will do battle with the Kentucky Wesleyan freshmen Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

With eighty-nine men who have withstood the cuts and grueling handed out by the big green mentors, the kittens have rapidly rounded into midseason form. Never in the history of the university has there been such abundance of material for the freshmen coaches to work with. So far this season the kittens have had extensive workouts in tackling and blocking, besides furnishing the varsity with all kinds of stiff competition. And now as their first game draws near they have reached the peak of perfection.

From over Winchester way, come tales of a great aggregation of ball taters. The Wesleyanites feel sure that they are to make history in Kentucky football. This will probably depend largely on the kittens. It is probable that the kittens, with full memory of the punishment handed out to them in liberal doses by the varsity, will journey to Winchester with blood in their eyes and with a dire intent of wreaking vengeance for their worn and battered bodies.

A schedule of the toughest kind is in store for the freshmen this year, according to coach Pribble. Games such as Wesleyan, Tennessee, Louisville, Sewanee, and Vanderbilt, are sure to make the kittens step some to hold up the Kentucky freshmen standard. But with such sterling material as Kercheval, Fiddler, Cassidy, Murphy, Nicholson, Pribble, Jacobs, Parrish, Pate, J. Allen, Jones, Wagoner, and Black, the big green mentors should have little trouble in upholding the Kentucky tradition of putting a winning football team on the field.

The game at Winchester Saturday should be one of the best games this fall and a large delegation of Kentucky fans are expected to follow the big green team.

The probable Kentucky lineup will be as follows: :

It is expected that about twenty reserves will accompany the team.

Freshman Football Player is Injured

David Porter Reported to be Improving at Good Samaritan Hospital

David Porter, freshman football candidate at the university, who was injured seriously Tuesday afternoon on Stoll field is improving nicely, according to authorities at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Porter received a badly sprained back and a possible injury to the muscles of his neck in blocking practice. He was unconscious for half an hour, and when revived, was so weak that teammates had to carry him to the dressing room.

The injury to Porter was the chief incident during football practice among the freshmen and varsity yesterday afternoon.

Women Athletes to Meet Next Monday

The annual fall mass meeting of all co-eds in the university who are interested in athletics for women will be held in the women's gymnasium Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was decided Tuesday at the first meeting of the Women's Athletic Association council. It was also concluded at the meeting that fall sports would begin immediately. Archery will commence Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and hockey Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All women attending the university are eligible to participate in the sports, every afternoon at 3 and 4 o'clock in the athletic field, which is in the rear of Patterson Hall.

"SHERIFF" TO BE CAP'N "FLOPPY'S NEXT MONIKER

By SAM ALLEN
Kentucky has another politician in the making.

Some time back it was learned that "Floppy" Forquer, leader of the 1930 football aggregation, was urged to join the ranks of that great mob of politicians that infest the country. It was rumored that immediately after "Floppy's" selection as Wildcat captain the people of New-castle begged and pleaded with him to run for the coveted position of sheriff. Captain Forquer modestly declined the generous offer but it is believed that after he has led the Gamage coached crew through the present football season he will return to his native haunts and reconsider the offer made by his fellow townsmen.

The Blue Grass State is noted for its clever politicians. In days gone by Henry Clay stirred the country with his great deeds and eloquent speeches. In more recent years there have been those like "Happy" Chandler and Wallace Muir. Chandler played an important role on Transylvania's gridiron not so long ago. Muir was an important cog in Kentucky's eleven in the days when co-eds wore long skirts.

With a few more banquets in the offing "Floppy" hopes to develop his speech-making to a higher degree and it is certain that his art of mud-slinging on Stoll field will do him no harm in the political campaigns of the future. As for beef, he is blessed with plenty and the tereadador spirit will not be lacking after three years of varsity competition. He is a tall, hearty, broad shouldered individual, capable of withstanding the hard knocks of his political opponents. His people are members of one of the nation's most powerful parties, but it was learned that "Floppy's" intentions are to form a new gridiron party. The pigskin will take the place of the rooster and the log cabin. His motto probably will be on the order of "More long runs for the people winning team for every hamlet." In a recent interview the Newcastle product refused to express his opinion on prohibition on the grounds that he might incriminate himself.

At present, Captain Forquer is more interested in Kentucky's bid for Southern Conference honors on the gridiron, and more power to you, "Sheriff" Forquer!

U. K. Intramural Department Will Revive Ancient Sport of Fencing

By MARVIN WACHS
A new sport has been inaugurated into physical education at the university. This is the ancient sport of fencing. Melvin Applebaum of Chicago will be in charge of the department.

Fencing in its earliest form was originated by the Greeks and Romans in gladiatorial combat. They used a short, blunt pointed sword with which they hacked and cut with amazing skill. The next step in the use of the sword was made during the Middle Ages after the advent of armor. A long, heavy blade was used then, a blade which was wielded with both hands. There was very little science or skill used in play with this weapon. The idea was to cut through the armor and mangle one's opponent. We next hear of a change in the type of weapon from the Spanish. These people, being small, could not handle the heavy two-handed sword. They developed the rapier. This was the first step toward the fencing which we now know. The Spaniards developed a quick, snake-like thrust, endeavoring to pierce their opponent instead of slashing him. This method gave the small, quick Spaniard a more even chance with the larger Nordic tribesman who used the sword.

The use of the rapier spread rapidly through Spain, Germany, and France. All used this weapon, but each country had its own method. The Spanish fencer danced all around his opponent, trying to find an opening, at the same time talking, cursing, and screaming. The German planted his feet firmly, and was extremely aggressive, beating his adversary's guard down by main force, and then using the thrust.

The French, true to their nature, developed fencing into a fine art. Their only body movements are backwards and forwards. Their parries, recoveries, and returns are made with a quick movement of the wrist. Suppleness, finesse, and coordination of mind and muscle are the keynotes of their method.

The Reserves are an establishment at Kentucky. In past years they have done their part in making football at Kentucky what it is. Many of them have been graduated from the ranks and have attained positions on the varsity squad. They are trained in the Gamage manner and can step in any pair of boots left vacant by some varsity luggard. It has been done.

So far the practice sessions have not brought to light anything definite as to who will play where, but as these necessary evil things continue Coach Potter intends to mark the men and groom them for their first game on October 25.

The Reserve schedule has not been completed. However, it is known that they will play Murray's State College for Teachers October 25, and will take a try at Dr. Rockne's Class B team November 8.

New Golf Course Opens to Public

Basement of Phoenix Hotel
Is Location of Newest
Indoor Greens

Nearly 500 people flooded the basement of the Phoenix hotel Wednesday night and clamored for a golf ball, a putter, and an opportunity to play 18 holes over the "finest indoor golf course in the South." The course is the finest of its kind to make an appearance in the city. If atmosphere lends impetus to a golfer's game there should be any number of them making the course in par, which is 42. A color scheme of red, black, and green, arranged by John Pursley, owner of the miniature putting greens, is most attractive, and most appealing, and can be said to be one of the best, if not the best, in this section of the country. The layout is located where the bowling alleys of the Phoenix were, and it is next to impossible, from an artistic point of view, to imagine such an incline from the commonplace to the sublime; from the long bare hardwood spaces to the beauty of green nooks, and from the noise and rumble to the click and cluck. The course proper consists of the usual number of holes found on the regulation outdoor golf course. There are hazards to be sure, hazards that are intricate and oftentimes provoking, but even these should not warrant mimics of profanity from any wielder of the putter who has an appreciation of vine covered cottages, and all that sort of thing. A prize of $10 was offered Wednesday for the lowest score turned in at the end of 18 holes of play. However, there were several tie scores and the awarding of the prize had to be continued and played off last night. There is a plan to organize a league in the city of Lexington, and another one to form a larger league in Central Kentucky. Valuable prizes will be offered throughout the year, and near the end of the season there will be a grand tournament with money prizes amounting to nearly $500. The management plans to cater especially to university students.

Shively Calls for Fall Track Tryouts

Coach Bernie Shively has issued a call for all men interested in track to report to him in the gymnasium Saturday at noon. Shively intends to organize both varsity and freshman cross country teams.

Meets will be arranged with various teams throughout the South as many of our Southern Conference brothers have taken a keen interest in cross country. Letters will be awarded varsity men, while the freshmen will receive numerals for their efforts. Contestants must place fifth or better in dual meets, or tenth or better in the conference meet to receive the coveted "K".

Coach Shively believes the new sport will be beneficial to him in organizing the regular track team in the spring. This is the first effort make to organize a cross country team since 1927. In that year the 'Cats participated in several meets with fair success. Cross country has been a popular minor sport in the North for several years, but it has not yet taken a grip on the southland. If the required number reports to Shively on Saturday, he hopes to start work in the near future.

INTRAMURAL

Preparations have been made for the fall intramural events, including tennis, golf, horse shoe pitching, and cross-country runs. Most of the entries closed September 24, with the exception of the cross-country meet, which closed September 23 at noon.

The first rounds in tennis, golf and horse shoe pitching started Thursday, September 25. Forfeitures of any matches will not be greeted heartedly at the Intramural office and failure to complete the first rounds of any sport will result in disqualification.

The Intramural department has drawn up rules as to disputes or complaints. All protests must be filed with the director of intramural athletics in writing not later than the day following the disputed contest or game and shall be accompanied by a deposit of one dollar, which shall be refunded if the protest is upheld by the intramural board of control.

All independents are urged to enter in the events. Intramural is for the benefit of all, and the more entries the keener the competition. Freshman independents and fraternity pledges will find it to their advantage to watch the bulletin board at the west entrance of the men's gymnasium for future announcements. There is no better time for a freshman to enter intramural competition than now.

In the near future, before early winter sports begin, the intramural department hopes to organize the church teams and the dormitory teams into an independent league. The organization in the independent league having the highest number of participation points will be awarded individual cups to each member of that league who has participated throughout the year and who has also shown good sportsmanship. However, it must be understood that these plans are only mythical and a consensus of opinion is desired. The intramural department would appreciate a letter of approval or an interview from the heads of the church and dormitory organizations.

Scandal

By WILLIAM ARDERY

After looking over all the rush-worn little girls, it is indeed refreshing to note that Virginia Dougherty, member of Pi Phi sorority, remains happy and carefree. We bet a pair of unworn spats that lots of triple triangles and freight train sorority members on this campus wish they were Pi Phis about this time each year.

You heard, of course, about the two insane Scotchmen. One was throwing bills all over the street and the other was picking them up and handing them back to him.

We hate to tell you, but this summer when all with quiet on the Blue Grass front, the father of all good Wildcats never referred to a certain scintillating ball totter who totes every afternoon on Stoll field without prefixing his mention of the mighty one with the wee word damn.

When the molten sun sinks to rest in the cool depths of purple clouds in the western sky this evening the fair freshettes will have decided just what group of etes they will associate with for the coming year. Many of them will be very sorry they took the lodge they did in about fifteen minutes after the brilliant ribbons are pinned on their maidenly bosoms. In another fifteen minutes they will be seriously considering going home to mother. This they will never do because just in the nick of time a dashing young Sigma Beta Zee will appear from out of the gym. Which makes us wonder if a girl has ever worn a Sigma Beta Zee pin in public.

We shall utilize the next inch of space in this column in appealing to the baser instincts of the etes. (If it's over a column inch, stop me.) What we want to say, however, is nothing more than if you are having your time (pardon, please, obsolete terminology) beat by a sorority sister or other enemy call SSS editor in The Kernel news room and slip him the decidedly low down. We immediately will ruin the reputation of the undesirable. We will ruin it so completely that nothing better than a Phi Tau will ever date her again.

Appointment of Officers Made

James W. Chapman, '29, and Colonel John C. Benson, '30.

Recent figures issued by the department of military science show that it has enrolled 1,188 men. There was 948 basic year students; 160 in the advanced corps; and 88 in the band.

Because the allotment allowed the university by the fifth Area Corp of the U. S. Army was soon filled, Major Meredith succeeded in getting special permission to enlarge the number. The present unit consists of two battalions. If the increase continues, it is probable that a rearrangement of companies will take place and another battalion formed.

Two new officers will be added to the military staff during the coming year to assist in the instruction of the students. They are Lieutenant Howard D. Crisswell, who is expected to arrive next week, and Captain William D. Cunningham, who is coming from Panama in February.

Moonshiner Is Humor Magazine

dock, is an outstanding feature of the first issue and is one that would credit any magazine of the Moonshiner type. And if any further commendation of the artists is needed, the cartoons speak for themselves.

Among the many features in the new publication, "The Drunken Raven," by James Jones, an unusual and clever parody on Edgar Allen Poe's poem, "The Raven," deserves praise for its originality. Tom Riley, The Kernel dramatic critic, pleases his fans with a new feature entitled Bookshines, in which he reaches astounding literary heights through a series of reviews of popular novels. Barbed Manuals, a series of verse allegedly containing the "dirt" on the Greek letter organizations of the campus, will create much comment and commotion when read by several of the various fraternity members. "Ten Nights in a Fraternity House," by an ambiguous author who expounds under the pseudonym of Richard Collar-butt, sounds suspiciously like memoirs of some very popular fraternity rushee on the morning after—after pledging.

If the magazine serves for no other purpose than to make the reader laugh, it has a saving clause in the "Joke of the Month" contest, whereby students submitting jokes and stories will be awarded cash prizes. They are expected to be humorous.

In general, the first issue of this, the youngest member of Lexington's publications, leads one to expect the Moonshiner to continue its present plane in the publication of strictly humorous material with a collegiate atmosphere.

Roamin' the Rialto

Barrymore appeared in the silent picture as well as the talking enterprise which retains the original title. The new "Moby Dick" opens at the Ben Ali Sunday and, from advance reports, it is far superior to its predecessor. A distinctive advantage, in our opinion is found in Joan Bennett who plays the principal feminine role in "Moby Dick". Much has been written and said concerning the acting ability of the younger Barrymore and any praise we add here is only in accord with everyone else who has expressed a view. Barrymore is undoubtedly one of the finest actors of our time. You will enjoy this romantic tale of the days when whaling was a major industry of the seacoast towns. You will thrill at the exciting chase of the white whale, Moby Dick, by Ahab, Barrymore in quest of vengeance on the sea beast. You will marvel at the scene in which Ahab is having his leg amputated after the whale has maimed it. In short, you will like "Moby Dick".

Production on Harold Lloyd's "Feet First" was finished last week. Many of the sequences were shot on the Hawaiian Islands. The picture will be previewed in 12 reels with further cutting bringing it down to 10.

Lawrence Schwab and Frank Mandel produced a splendid musical comedy a few seasons back called "Follow Through". It featured golf. Now Paramount has engaged Mr. Schwab to direct a film version in cooperation with Lloyd Carrigan which opens at the Kentucky Saturday. "Follow Through" is an all-color picture which features Nancy Carroll and Charles "Buddy" Rogers. Others in the cast are: Zelma O'Neal and Jack Haley, from the stage who are credited with the best performances, Eugene Pallette and Thelma Todd. "Follow Through" tells of two feminine golfers who are in love with a young pro. They decide to play a round in order to ascertain who gets him. This picture has had varying reviews. Some say it's not so good. "Variety" gives it a vicious panning and especially romps on young Rogers both as a singer and as an actor. The picture has a lot of songs in it from the original production. It is said that the color work is particularly attractive. "Follow Through" should prove worthwhile for the comedy of Zelma O'Neal and Jack Haley.

For our weekly brief biography, we offer Al Jolson, whose real name is Asa Yoelson. He was born in Washington, D. C., in 1883, the son of a Jewish cantor. Although inclined for the synagogue, he preferred vaudeville and from there made his rise to fame. He was prominent on the stage and in 1926 was induced to try new talking movies. He made "The Jazz Singer" which made talkies and has since enjoyed an important place in cinemadom. Latest picture: "Big Boy".

Beginning Sunday at the Strand is "Bright Lights", a First National picture featuring Dorothy Mackaill. This is another all-color production on the local rialto next week, and has a story which is said to be thrilling as well as entertaining. "Bright Lights" was directed by Michael Curtiz. A drama that moves from Africa's lowest cafes to the highest of New York night life unfolds in this picture whose cast includes Noah Berry, Frank Fay, Inez Courtney, James Murray, and Eddie Nugent. Miss Mackaill has given some of the best performances of late that the silver sheet can boast of and in this attraction she is reported to have ample opportunity to display her histrionic ability. There are several revue sequences in "Bright Lights" which, from the trailer, are eye-filling.
